LITERATURE

“TERRANEO”

LIVE

GRAPHIC NOVEL PRESENTATION
+ CLASSIC GUITAR/FLUTE
DUO CONCERT

Tuesday 4th of July 2023 at 6pm
Instituto Cervantes, 6 Lincoln Place, Dublino
Free admission - More information HERE
Language: Italian/English/Spanish

Within the “Mediterranean July” – a cultural celebration of Mediterranean nations promoted by the Spanish Embassy in Ireland - Marco Gioacchini (Istituto Italiano di Cultura) will interview the Italian authors of the graphic book “Terraneo”, Vincenzo Del Vecchio and Marino Amodio. The encounter will be enriched by musical interludes with pieces by Italian and Spanish composers performed live by young musicians Jamie Gogan (guitar) and Valentine Laporte (flute). Imagine this: the Mediterranean once was a land, not a sea. It was an island, where all peoples lived together, surrounded by the sea. “Terraneo”, published in Italian and in Spanish, is a book that reinvents the myth of the Mediterranean and of Mediterranean peoples. It is a book for those who love illustration and mythology, for children and grown-ups alike. But it is also a fable on what it is that binds the destinies of the lands touched by the Mediterranean, a journey of discovery of the invisible cities on its shores and of the spirits of those inhabiting them now and then. Some copies of the book will be available onsite for purchase. The event will be hosted at the Instituto Cervantes of Dublin. Free entry.
