"Respiro" is a 2002 film directed by Emanuele Crialese and starring Valeria Golino. On Lampedusa, a small island in the Mediterranean Sea, lives a beautiful nymph with hair bleached by the sun and blue-green eyes, like the crystal clear water that surrounds her. She is a pure being, halfway between earth and water. Like a child, she experiences life events intensely, without shame, and without filters. Her name is Grazia. She is married to a fisherman and has three teenage children of whom she appears to be more like a sister than a mother. The film was nominated for major international film festivals and won the Grand Prix award at Cannes Film Festival in 2002. It will be screened in Italian with English subtitles and will be preceded by an analysis of its context and the director's work. Free admission, booking required on iicdublino.esteri.it or Eventbrite
